Dear Sir/ Madam,

We are publishing "Gyan Management" an International bi-annual refereed Journal of Management & Technology. The journal provides a platform for the creation & dissemination of knowledge in the area of Management and Technology. Its focus is on applied research and reflections relevant to practicing managers without sacrificing the academic rigors. It attaches a special emphasis on management & technological issues that are relevant for the emerging economies.

The Journal tries to maintain a balance between purely research-oriented papers and those based on management practices in different areas of management & technology. Every issue of the journal carries a mix of research papers, articles, case studies and book reviews. We seek your participation in this endeavor to build symbiotic relationship in our common quest for creation and dissemination of knowledge.

We propose to begin our relationship through exchange of journals on complimentary basis if your institute is publishing any journal. In case the journal is not being published by your institute, we will request you to kindly subscribe the "Gyan Management" journal for your library. This would allow both the institutes to enrich their libraries and mark the start of a mutually beneficial association.

We would welcome valuable suggestions and looking forward for your response.

Sincerely Yours
